

OS LAB TASKS

QUESTION1:

Write a shell script that takes two numbers as command-line arguments, multiplies them, and prints the result.

QUESTION2:

Write a script that accepts a sentence and counts the number of vowels in it.

QUESTION3:

Write a shell script that takes a filename as input, checks if it exists, and appends the current date and time to it.

QUESTION4:

Write a Shell Bash Script for evaluate the status of a file/directory.

QUESTION5:

Directory Backup Script

Develop a bash script to automate directory backup tasks. The script should:

- a. Accept a directory path as an argument.
- b. Create a backup of all files in the directory (and its subdirectories) in a specified backup directory.
- c. Append the current date to the backup folder's name.
- d. Provide feedback to the user about the backup process, including the number of files and directories backed up.